

THE PRIDE OF MONTE CRISTO

J D H O W A R D

JD Howard has just released a new book, The Pride of Monte Cristo, in which he explores life in the isolated mining camp of Monte Cristo in 1896, and details the story of a young artist who travels to live with relatives in their hotel and paint the breathtaking Alpine landscapes. When a devastating flood washes away the critical Everett & Monte Cristo Railway, the community evacuates to safety through the wilderness of the Sauk and Stillaguamish River Valleys.

BOOK SIGNING !

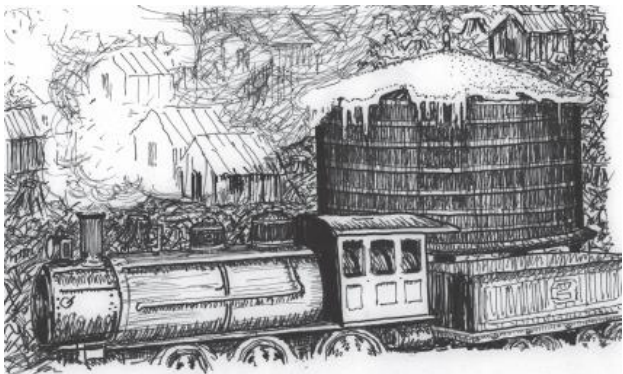

Mar 30, 2019

12:00 – 3:00 PM

Granite Falls Historical Museum
109 E. Union St.
Granite Falls, WA

The author won the Malstrom Award two years ago, for his novel entitled Sawdust Empire, which centered around the famous Everett massacre and the events leading up to it. As was the case with that book, The Pride of Monte Cristo is carefully researched to cover real places, real events, with the real names of the people involved, and combines history with a fictional storyline designed to bring the conversations and emotions to life.

Send a note to: info@gfhistory.org if you want to reserve a copy in your name! We want to make sure we have enough copies on-hand that no one goes away disappointed. Price: $15

For the last one-hundred and thirty years much has been written and said about Monte Cristo. This author has attempted to bring voice to those who struggled to survive and thrive in a remote wilderness setting. May their lives and memories never be forgotten.